

BARANGAY HISTORY

Long time before people came to reside, the place has no name plants grew. Only few families came to build their houses and came to clear the place for them to plant their vegetables.

Years had passed until a narrow road was constructed leading to Cabanatuan and other narrow road that leads to “Tugue”, now the town of Talavera.

Incidentally, Spanish Guirilla came from nowhere; someone asked the name of the place. Since the Spaniards were talking in Spanish, the people could not understand where the Spaniards were talking.

The Spaniards go on walking until they met a farmer whom is then working in the farm. They asked the name of the place once again. He did not understand what they are saying so he answered back PO? (Sir) and continued to say LA, to stop Carabao from walking. The word PO and LA was heard by the Spaniards and from then on the place was named PULA.
