

BARANGAY HISTORY

Many years ago, San Miguel na Munti is just a sitio of Barangay Pinagpanaan. It is a forest like place wherein tall trees and wild grasses grew. Just like other people during that time, they have to clear the place through kaingin, for them to have a piece of land to till and for them to build their houses.

The first settlers of the place were said to be migrants from Bulacan. They speak purely Tagalog. When they became big in number, the residents agreed to give the place its name, since the place has no name yet. And as the majority insists, they called the place San Miguel na Munti. It was named after their patron saint San Miguel, the image which one of the settlers donated.

Until San Miguel na Munti, a former sitio became a barangay of Talavera, Nueva Ecija.
